OPUS[®] Mark II national launch at Sandown

OPUS[®] Campers will stage the national launch of its new OPUS[®] Mark II at the 2016 Melbourne Leisurefest next month.

The OPUS[®] Mark II, with its Tough Luxury combination of heavy duty off-road suspension and extra standard equipment, will be on show 6-9 October at Sandown Racecourse.

The new OPUS[®] Mark II is a major update of the well-loved OPUS Camper, with coil spring independent suspension, dual batteries, standard sound system and many other upgrades.

OPUS[®] Camper director Malcolm Hill said the OPUS[®] Mark II was tougher, more luxurious and more user-friendly than ever.

“The main upgrades in OPUS[®] Mark II are the heavier duty underpinnings, an increased list of standard equipment and detail improvements suggested by OPUS[®] owners,” he said.

“Thanks to feedback from OPUS[®] owners, we have given the Mark II real-world improvements such as dual batteries, a bigger storage box and re-designed bed supports.

“But above all, OPUS[®] Mark II is still a genuine OPUS[®], with all the comfort and style that sets OPUS[®] apart from other campers.”

OPUS[®] Camper's new OPUS[®] Mark II will make its national show debut at Melbourne Leisurefest, 6-9 October at Sandown Racecourse.

The OPUS® Mark II range includes a 4 Sleeper with the classic OPUS® dual-fold mechanism and a compact, forward-fold 2 Sleeper.

Mr Hill said his Australian design team had taken the global lead in developing the Mark II, and its down-under toughness would eventually be offered in other global markets.

“What all OPUS® models deliver – and always will – is a unique combination of style, space, comfort and convenience in a package that is unlike any other camper,” he said.

“We already have orders for the first OPUS® Mark II units for delivery in October, and we will be taking orders at Sandown for delivery early in 2017.”
